Re: American Bar Association Section of Environment, Energy, and Resources
State or Local Bar Environment, Energy, and Resources Program of the Year Award.

Erin Chancellor, Chair

The State Bar of Texas Environmental & Natural Resources Law Section
Chair@texenrls.org and erin.chancellor@gmail.com

Dear Erin:

The State Bar of Texas Environmental & Natural Resources Law Section's 2022 Symposium on Legal System Changes to Address Climate Change and the Energy Transition was recently nominated to receive the American Bar Association Section of Environment, Energy, and Resources State or Local Bar Environment, Energy, and Resources Program of the Year Award. It is with great pleasure that we notify you that the programming has been selected to receive this prestigious award. Congratulations! This annual award recognizes the previous year's best continuing legal education program or public service project focused on issues in the field of environmental, energy, or natural resources law.

The Section would like to present this award to you or the appropriate designee(s) during a virtual ceremony that will take place later this year. Details about the date and time of the ceremony will be provided soon. During the ceremony, the 2022 Symposium will be recognized along with four other ABA award recipients and you or your designee(s) will receive a crystal award recognition piece and will have the opportunity to make up to five minutes of remarks. The ceremony's audience will consist primarily of lawyers working in environmental, energy, and resources law.

Please confirm (1) your acceptance of this award on behalf of the State Bar of Texas Environmental & Natural Resources Law Section (2) your ability (or a designee's ability) to attend a virtual ceremony later this year, and (3) the preferred mailing address for the crystal award with Kevin Gordon at Kevin.Gordon@americanbar.org. The Section looks forward to honoring the Symposium's organizers!

Best regards,

Jonathan Kahn
